

Dyspraxia Foundation

We aim to:

- support people affected by dyspraxia and their families
- promote better diagnosis and treatment for people who have dyspraxia
- help health and education professionals to help people with dyspraxia
- raise awareness and improve people's understanding of dyspraxia

We do this by:

- publishing leaflets, booklets, books and guides for parents, people who have dyspraxia and professionals
- organising conferences and talks about dyspraxia and related subjects for parents, carers and professionals
- supporting local groups across the United Kingdom
- supporting adults who have dyspraxia

If you would like details of your Local Parent Volunteer Support Group, please contact us.
