Get your child’s attention first by calling their name/ gently tapping their shoulder/ making eye contact.

Encourage pretend play e.g., having a picnic with teddy and doll, feeding teddy and doll, brushing their hair and teeth and putting them to bed.

Practice turn taking with your child in games and be clear whose turn it is e.g., ‘Daddy’s turn.’ ‘Daddy’s turn has finished, Barney’s turn’.

Encourage your child to give you eye contact when you are talking to them or playing with them by holding toys and items close to your eyes.

Try and keep routines consistent throughout the week and talk through any changes you might need to make.

Use visual cues (e.g.: pointing, gestures, pictures).
