

The Recovery College Online website has been developed by Tees, Esk and Wear Valleys NHS Foundation Trust (TEWV) and has two main areas:

- a public area available to anyone worldwide, providing generic, non-Trust specific information on mental health topics.
- an e-learning section, which will initially be available to anyone within the TEWV catchment area (by secure login) and provide teaching and learning on a range of mental health topics.

Content on both areas of the website has been co-written from different perspectives and includes overview from those with lived experience. There are service user stories on the site along with site information, views and opinions, as well as the training courses, resources and forums specific to individual logins.

We've now launched an area on the website for young people, their families, teachers and other professionals. This can be accessed via the main website.
