Too many brightly coloured objects in primary colours in the environment can be distracting.

ACTIVITY

Adults respond to different colours. Observe how children react to colours around them in your environment.