An introduction to Restorative Practice

(based on Level 1 Awareness Training L. Cooke and S. Collins)
The Session Will Focus On...

- Understanding the key Restorative Principles
- The Working “With” Ethos
- Talking restoratively – engaging with our children, their families and between ourselves
- Exploring effective listening
- Benefits for Children, Families, Practice and Beyond!
Let’s remind ourselves of our city’s vision for children....

“Is that children and young people get a good start in life, are able to fulfill their potential and become successful adults who are engaged in their communities”
What RP is all about......

What do you think it might be about?
What RP is all about…….

• Being proactive – how we do what we do, anything that builds connections, develops relationships and brings people together

Is there a definition?

Restorative practice can be used anywhere to prevent conflict, build relationships and repair harm by enabling people to communicate effectively and positively – RP can involve both a proactive approach to preventing harm and conflict and activities that repair harm where conflicts have already arisen. (RJC)

Restorative practice involves helping the child think through their behaviour, its consequences and what they can do to make it better. ‘It’s all about developing, maintaining and repairing relationships, building a community based around empathy and self-learning, where children take responsibility for their behaviour,’
What do our children say?

- Making things right after a problem
- Talking together about broken rules and making people feel better
- Talking aboutwrongs and making things better
- Building relationships, creating communication through empathy and understanding

A city of opportunity where everyone thrives
Looking more closely – Principles of Restorative Practice

- Empowerment
- Responsibility, reintegration and restoration
- Restores relationships in a just and fair way
- Voluntary, choice to engage
- Proactive not reactive
- Giving all a voice
- Effective communication
- Inclusivity

Develops empathy and understanding through expression of emotion
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Enforced</th>
<th>Opportunity to blame</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Punishment</td>
<td>What people ‘should’ do</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A soft option</td>
<td>Making assumptions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>About suggesting</td>
<td>A magic wand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a solution</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
The Social Discipline Window

High Challenge

High Support

To

With

Not

For

A city of opportunity where everyone thrives
“Human beings are happier, more productive and more likely to make positive changes in their behaviour when those in positions of authority do things with them, rather than to them or for them.”

Taken from Wachtel (2004)
Skills for effective communication
Skills for effective communication

- Be an active listener
- Letting go of ‘power’ and empowering others
- Eliciting information and ideas without making suggestions
- Open questions
- Use of restorative questioning
- Tone of voice
- Use of silence
- Body language
- Summarising and reflecting back
- Being self aware
Talking restoratively – Conversations and Language

What happened?
What were you thinking at the time?
How do you feel about it now?
Who do you think has been affected and how?
What needs to happen to put things right?
Giving it a go – Effective listening exercise

- Sharers – share a problem with your listener
- Listeners – give it a go using the restorative questions
- Observers – Consider……
  - Is restorative language being used?
  - Was there observable active listening?
  - Did the sharers come to their own solutions?

Remember…..

We don’t learn from talking; we learn from listening.
The Benefits

Our Way of Being

Children and Young People
Self
Families
My Team

A city of opportunity where everyone thrives
- Builds and maintains positive relationships
- Develops empathy
- Being able to constructively express emotions
- Repairing of relationships
- Encourages the building of trust
- Encourages development of own personal skills to positively manage conflict
- Increases sense of belonging for all
- Develops self regulation skills
- Fosters an increase in staff’s work satisfaction
- Creates culture of engagement and increased attendance
- Improved positivity, resilience and responsibility-taking
- Reduced challenging behaviours
- Greater respect and courtesy towards each other
- An understanding of how to make wrongs right.
"Relationships built through restorative practice are the oxygen people and communities need to survive and thrive..."

(Dr Jim Longo, Washington and Jefferson College)
Next steps...

- If you would like further information or training on Restorative Practice please contact Rachel Booth or Liz Smith

- Rachel.booth@Southampton.gov.uk
- Liz.smith@Southampton.gov.uk